Type: ROUTINE INSPECTION

Date: 01-NOV-2023

2.75(b)(1)

Records: Dealers and exhibitors.

The facility does not have up-to-date records of acquisition, animals on hand and disposition of animals at the facility. The records, for example, do not contain the disposition records for a Patas monkey, a Spider monkey, 2 Fennec foxes, 1 of 5 camels and 2 of 4 zebras. The animals on hand did not match the number and types of animals present at inspection. The record of animals on hand, with full acquisition and disposition records, are important to assure that all animals are located during an emergency of natural disaster, particularly if facility representatives with a working knowledge of the inventory is not available. These records are also reviewed by APHIS officials to assure that animals are obtained from appropriate sources and as a measure to assure appropriate animal care.

These records must be updated routinely and maintained in the future to reflect animal arrivals, animals on hand and departures from the facility.

Facilities, general.

During the inspection, 5 goats were observed walking outside of their outdoor enclosure. According to the licensee, the animal had escaped from their primary enclosure. There were no injuries to the animal. Failure to maintain housing facilities, so that they contain the animals securely, increases the risk of injury to the animals. The licensee must ensure that the housing facilities for animals are designed and constructed so that they can always contain the animals securely. In addition, the licensee must also ensure that the housing facilities are structurally sound, kept in good repair, they must protect the animals from injury, and restrict other animals from entering the enclosure.
