FACILITIES, OUTDOOR.

The opossum enclosure has no surrounding perimeter fence. A perimeter fence protects the animal from unauthorized people and animals and serves as a secondary containment system. Correct by constructing an appropriate perimeter fence or by obtaining an approved variance by submitting a written request for a variance as determined by the Director of the Regional Office.

This is a pre-use inspection for the new, permanent location.

No regulated activity may occur until the facility has passed an inspection and is in complete compliance.
