2.40(b)(2)

ATTENDING VETERINARIAN AND ADEQUATE VETERINARY CARE (DEALERS AND EXHIBITORS).

A female sheep that has 2 newborn lambs is very thin thru the back end. The bones are very prominent and the sides are very sunken. One of the lambs is very thin with the bones being very prominent. The sheep are in an enclosure with wet and muddy floors which has an enclosed tent around the entire petting zoo. The temperatures have been very cold in the area with lows reaching 10 degrees F or lower. The licensee called the Attending Veterinarian that examined and treated all the goats, sheep, and 2 cows at the petting zoo. The thin ewe and 2 lambs have been separated from the other sheep to receive special care. It is important that the ewe has plenty of food since she is nursing twins. It is very important for the health and welfare of the ewe to have proper care for a nursing mother. Correct immediately.

3.127(c)

FACILITIES, OUTDOOR.

The animals are located inside an enclosed tent with 6 enclosures containing pigs, cows, sheep , and goats. The inspector noted that the floors were very wet and muddy due to rain and lack of bedding to absorb moisture. The enclosures had very little bedding during the inspection. The temperatures have been very cold at nights. The animals are unable to find a dry area in their enclosures to lay down to rest. The enclosures need bedding to absorb moisture and keep animals warm. Correct immediately.
