2.126(a)(2)

ACCESS AND INSPECTION OF RECORDS AND PROPERTY; SUBMISSION OF ITINERARIES.

Availability of Records.

***At the time of the inspection, the camel handler could not produce any of the documents and records that are required under the AWA Regulations and was unfamiliar with these documents (specifically the written Program of Veterinary Care and acquisition records for the camels that were in travel status at this location). The handler made several attempts to contact his boss for guidance but he could not be reached. As a result, none of the required documents and records that must be available at the time of an inspection could be reviewed.

Per this Section of the Regulations, all documents and records that are required to be kept under the AWA should be available at the time of an inspection so the required records can be reviewed to determine the facility's compliance with the provisions of the AWA. All licensees that are in travel status are required to carry copies of all of the required documents while on the road so the documents can be made available for review at the time of an inspection.

The travelling unit of the licensee that is at the RI zoo needs to have copies of all the required documents.

The itinerary shall contain complete and accurate information concerning the whereabouts of any animal intended for exhibition at any location other than the person's approved site and shall include the names, dates, and locations (with addresses) where the animals will travel, be housed, and be exhibited, including all anticipated dates and locations (with addresses) for any stops and layovers that allow or require removal of the animals from the transport enclosures.

The itinerary must also include the name of the person who intends to exhibit the animal and transport the animal for exhibition purposes, including any business name and current Act license or registration number and, in the event that any animal is leased, borrowed, loaned, or under some similar arrangement, the name of the person who owns such animal; and the name, identification number or identifying characteristics, species (common or scientific name), sex and age of each animal that will be in travel status.

Complete and accurate information concerning the whereabouts of the animals when a licensee is in travel status is necessary in order to know the location of the licensee to ensure that inspections can be conducted when required in order to determine compliance with the provisions of the AWA and to assess the facility and animals.
