3.80(a)(1)(ix)

PRIMARY ENCLOSURES.

Several of the outdoor enclosures for the groups of spider monkeys have corner perches made of a solid piece of board. These boards are wet rotted, have cracked surfaces, and are no longer water impervious. To be corrected by 10-3-16.

3.81

ENVIRONMENT ENHANCEMENT TO PROMOTE PSYCHOLOGICAL WELL-BEING.

Although there is a written Program for Environmental Enhancement, it is outdated as the primates described on it are not here, and the spider monkeys and one macaque that are here are not described. It is also signed off on by their former attending veterinarian. A new enrichment plan needs to be written and approved by the current attending veterinarian. This plan needs to address how the social needs of the primates are being met, especially for the one singly housed macaque. The plan is to also address the environments of the primates and what enrichment items are supplied to promote species typical behaviors. To be corrected by 10-3-16.

3.82(d)

FEEDING.

The white plastic baskets being used for food receptacles for the macaque and three of the spider monkey cages have black speckled mildew on them. These need to be cleaned more often so the presented food does not come in contact with dirty surfaces. To be corrected by 9-3-16.

3.84(a)

CLEANING, SANITIZATION, HOUSEKEEPING, AND PEST CONTROL.

Five spider monkeys are housed together in an outdoor enclosure with access to a shelter building. There are resting boards just under the viewing windows and the concrete floor is covered with shavings. Along one wall the shavings are entirely wet soaked and at the end near the door is a pile of fresh and older feces. The wet straw and feces is attracting flies. This area needs to be cleaned more frequently to decrease disease hazards, insects, pests, and odors. To be corrected by 9-3-16.
