3.125(a)

FACILITIES, GENERAL.

1. African Crested Porcupine enclosure is in need of attention. The small wire mesh that has been attached to wood boards and beams have begun to detach. It appears that the porcupine has started to pull at the mesh. It is now pulling away from the boards and beams and jagged edges are present. This situation will need to be addressed in the winter quarters enclosure and the summer enclosure.

To Be Corrected By: December 24, 2017

2. The fencing along the back side of the elk pen is in need of repair. The chain link fence is detached from the top rail. It is now sagging and an additional piece of fence was placed over it. However, to ensure the integrity of the fence line this area will need to be repaired. There is also a piece of siding missing from the eave of the adjacent barn. Due to the jagged edges and the possibility that the male elk could injury his antler on this area it will also need to be addressed.

To Be Corrected By: January 20, 2018

3. The green barn, in the mouflon pen, along the side of the parking lot has a hole in the siding. This hole is just under hay feeder. To ensure the integrity of the barn, this hole will need to be repaired.

To Be Corrected By: January 20, 2018

bedding. However, birds and squirrels have gained access. There is evidence that they have chewed through the boxes and bags and are now eating this food source. To ensure that the food and bedding are not contaminated by vermin they will need to be stored properly. All food and bedding that is open needs to be stored in closed containers. Any supplies that are not open need to be stored up and off of the floor.
