Contingency planning.

At the time of the inspection, the licensee did not have a written contingency plan in place. A written emergency/contingency plan is required to help ensure animal health and well-being in the event of an emergency or disaster. Without this tool, animals may suffer illness, injury or death due to unpreparedness should an emergency or disaster strike. The licensee must develop, document and follow an appropriate plan to provide for the humane handling, treatment, transportation, housing and care of their animals in the event of an emergency or disaster (one which could reasonably be anticipated and expected to be detrimental to the good health and well-being of the animals in their possession). The contingency plan must include all of the information and documentation as detailed in Section 2.134(a-c) of the Animal Welfare Act and Animal Welfare Regulations.

Environment enhancement to promote psychological well-being.

The licensee is missing a complete species-appropriate environmental enhancement plan that is required for birds. They have 30 domestic chickens and 3 domestic ducks on the property. They are providing some enrichment to the birds including social grouping, grit to scratch for, corn, fruit, pumpkins and produce scraps, but lack a written plan approved by the attending veterinarian. The plan, at a minimum, must address social grouping, environmental enrichment, special considerations, restraint devices, and exemptions. A species-appropriate plan for environmental enhancement is necessary to promote the psychological well-being of the birds on the premises.
