3.1(c)(1)

HOUSING FACILITIES, GENERAL.

Several of the lixit tips for the automatic water drinkers in the enclosures were rusted. Once these become rusted they can no longer be effectively cleaned and sanitized and can cause health issues for the animals. These need to be maintained and kept in good repair for the health of the animals.

A section of the metal kennel doors were also rusted and the seal on several sections of the wood frame have been scratched and chewed on, which makes it now no longer impervious to moisture and cannot be properly cleaned and sanitized. Routine maintenance and repair of the rust and wooded areas in the kennel are necessary to maintain the structure and sanitation of the dog housing facility. Proper cleaning and sanitation prevent the spread of disease.

To be corrected by June 23, 2017.

3.11(a)

CLEANING, SANITIZATION, HOUSEKEEPING, AND PEST CONTROL.

There was an accumulation of feces and urine soaked shavings in several of the new pens that are on the ground. These enclosures are being cleaned weekly, but per this regulation, fecal and food waste must be cleaned daily to prevent soiling of the dogs. These enclosures must be spot cleaned daily for the health and comfort of the dogs.

To be corrected by May 25, 2017.

CLEANING, SANITIZATION, HOUSEKEEPING, AND PEST CONTROL.

The primary housing facility where the dogs were kept needs to be addressed. Throughout the area, there were excess items, trash, debris and dust. Dust was covering the kennel cages and counter tops where dental instruments and medications were kept. On one kennel door, there were used syringes covered with safe-guard (a canine dewormer) which were not being cleaned between use. To maintain the health of the dogs and prevent disease transmission, it is important to make sure there are proper housekeeping practices of the overall facility and
