During a review of facility records it was noted in Protocol 2023-1224 the principal investigator did not include an appropriate justification for the number of animals to be utilized on the study. The protocol indicated the number of animals will be collected and used for training based on student participation, however, did not describe the methods used to determine the number of animals needed during the study. The principal investigator should provide an appropriate justification for the number of animals that will be required during the study. It is the responsibility of the IACUC to ensure that proposed activities involving the use of animals have been reviewed and determined to be in accordance with the Animal Welfare Act unless an appropriate justification for departure from the standards have been documented.
