3.53(a)(1) Critical

Primary enclosures.

During morning observation checks of 05 July 2023, an animal caretaker found the exhibited Burmese python out of their enclosure and inside the rabbit enclosure, of which 3 out of 4 rabbits were absent (Peter, Tutu, Sarabi). The rabbits could not be located anywhere inside the facility or outdoors. According to the exhibitor, the python appears more rotund than usual and it is presumed that the python consumed the 3 rabbits. The animals are indoor housed in separate enclosures that share a common solid wall. The entrance to the rabbit enclosure is a half wall that is approximately 5 feet tall with a wide air gap to the ceiling. It is undetermined how the python escaped their padlocked enclosure at this time. Primary enclosures housing rabbits that can be breached by wild or captive predators can result in their injury or death. Primary enclosures for rabbits shall be constructed and maintained to keep predators out.

Correct from this date forward of 10 July 2023.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with facility representatives.
