Primary enclosures.

The rusted metal entrance door and support beam in the enclosure for the 2 yellow-headed amazon parrots have not yet been repaired. There is a metal stand feeder with a broken edge in this enclosure and the metal entrance door to the Blue and Yellow Macaw enclosure has holes and jagged edges. These are areas where a bird could be injured by the sharp edges. Primary enclosures must be maintained with no sharp points or edges that could injure the birds.

This inspection and exit briefing were conducted with the manager.
