CONSIGNMENTS TO CARRIERS AND INTERMEDIATE HANDLERS.

Upon inspection of the crate of a ten week old puppy arriving on a KLM flight to SFO from Amsterdam, and handled by Menzies, it was discovered that no feeding and watering instructions were attached to the crate. There was a sticker applied in Amsterdam stating that the animal had been fed and watered after arriving there from Hungary, but it said the animal was last offered food and water on 3/20 at 8:15. Assuming that was 8:15 AM, with the 8 hour time difference, that would have been 12 AM SFO time, fourteen hours previous to the time of inspection at SFO. But this is uncertain, as the information was unclear, and no feeding and watering instructions were provided from the shipper, as required.

Carriers must ensure that a certification is signed by the consignor that includes written instructions for feeding and watering, and that this information is clearly visible on the primary enclosure so that the animal can be properly cared for during transit.

To be corrected immediately.
