ATTENDING VETERINARIAN AND ADEQUATE VETERINARY CARE (DEALERS AND EXHIBITORS).

Four enclosures contained at least one dead newborn guinea pig. One enclosure contained a dead weanling, and one adult had been identified in the morning walkthrough by the facility. The group had been started on antibiotic treatment in the feed this weekend as directed in the PVC based upon deaths noted by the facility. The use of antibiotic in the feed may not be sufficient to treat or prevent disease in neonates. The veterinarian must be contacted to assure the most appropriate methods to prevent, control, diagnose, and treat diseases and injuries is used based upon the observations by the facility. Correct by contacting the veterinarian by: 8 April 2015.

An Exit interview was conducted with facility owner.
