ENVIRONMENT ENHANCEMENT TO PROMOTE PSYCHOLOGICAL WELL-BEING.

The plan for environment enhancement adequate to promote the psychological well-being of nonhuman primates did not accurately reflect the current facility. The animals were observed to have toys and items to manipulate. The plan indicated that the animals would be brought inside at night, which reflected what was happening at the previous facility (including the old name, address & licensee) but not this facility. The plan must accurately reflect where and how the animals are currently being cared for and be approved by the attending veterinarian.
