HOUSING FACILITIES, GENERAL.

* Two enclosures housing two adult dogs and seven puppies had hanging heat lamps within the enclosures. These heat lamps did not have protection guards and were accessible to the dogs. With accessibility by the dogs, this could possibly injure the animals.

All facilities or heating systems must be designed, so to protect the animals from injury.

HOUSING FACILITIES, GENERAL.

* The Old Kennel building has three dog doors used by four adult dogs. The wood door ways for these dog doors was excessively chewed and scratched. Counting from the south the third enclosure had a hole chewed through the outside back wall.

The Block B area of the New Kennel had a 1 inch by 1 inch piece of wood board running along the bottom of the back wall for enclosures located on both sides of the alley. The wood board for seven of these enclosures, housing seven adult dogs, was excessively chewed and scratched.

These excessively chewed and scratched wood surfaces cannot be properly cleaned and sanitized. Without proper cleaning and sanitation, the disease potential for the animals increases.

All surfaces must be maintained and kept in good repair. This will allow for proper cleaning and sanitation, thus reducing the disease potential to the animals.
