3.75(a)

HOUSING FACILITIES, GENERAL.

In an enclosure housing a non-human primate, there are approximately fifteen 1-inch long blunt bolt screws identified protruding into the enclosure. The bolt screws are accessible to the non-human primate. Failure to remove protruding hardware from the enclosure can have the potential to injure the animal housed within. A system should be in place and maintained to ensure the animal enclosure is free of hardware which may injure the animal.

To be corrected by February 15, 2014

An exit briefing was conducted with a facility representative.
