2.40(b)(2) DIRECT

ATTENDING VETERINARIAN AND ADEQUATE VETERINARY CARE (DEALERS AND EXHIBITORS).

Two guinea pigs were noted to appear un-thrifty and have increased respiration at the time of inspection. Upon examination, one was noted to have long teeth that were worn from one side to create a sharp edge. Both animals were subjectively underweight and the veterinarian had not been contacted by the facility. Failure to involve the veterinarian early in stages of disease can lead to unnecessary suffering. Correct by having these animals examined by a veterinarian who additionally will establish and maintain programs of adequate veterinary care that include. The use of appropriate methods to prevent, control, diagnose, and treat diseases and injuries, and the availability of emergency, weekend, and holiday care. Records of diagnosis and treatment of the animals must be maintained for review by USDA inspector. To be corrected by 15 November 2016.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with the owner.
