3.11(d)

Cleaning, sanitization, housekeeping, and pest control.

Rodent feces was observed around and under unopened dry dog food bags in the food storage room. While the facility has rodent traps in place, they are not an effective method of pest control at this time. The presence of mammal pests may create a disease hazard to the animals. An effective program for the control of insects, external parasites, avian and mammalian pests must be established and maintained. The licensee discussed with inspectors possible remedies to the pest control issue during the inspection.
