HOUSING FACILITIES, GENERAL.

In the enclosed yard on the premise, there were chewed disposable plastic bowls, socks, paper and other discarded materials. The enclosed yard is used as a turnout yard for the animal and therefore is an animal area. Animal areas must be kept neat and free clutter, including accumulations of trash, waste material and other discarded matter in order to facilitate husbandry practices. A system of maintenance must be in place to ensure that the premises are kept clean in order to protect the animals from injury.
