HOUSING FACILITIES, GENERAL.

Some surfaces in the housing for non-human primates are in need of maintenance, replacement, or repair. In the Spider Monkey enclosure there are metal supports for perches that have significant corrosion, including a hole through the metal that is 1/2 inch in diameter. Some animals, such as the marmosets and and brown lemur, have wooden den boxes that are soiled and porous.

Failure to maintain surfaces in good repair impedes cleaning and disinfecting, which could be detrimental to the health of the animals. Additionally, corrosion of perch supports could threaten their structural strength, which could be hazardous.

All surfaces in primate enclosures should be maintained in good repair in order to protect the well-being of the animals. To be corrected by 5/17/17.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with the zoo administrator.
