Type: ROUTINE INSPECTION

Date: 08-FEB-2022

Watering.

Two ferrets are in an indoor enclosure. At initial observation, both ferrets were drinking eagerly at the water bottle, and continued drinking for at least 10 minutes. The facility representative stated that they were given water in the morning and she is not sure why there were drinking so much in that moment.

Water must be provided and be accessible as often as necessary for the health and comfort of the animal and to prevent excessive thirst and dehydration. Correct by providing access to drinkable water more often. Corrected during the inspection.

3.131(c)

Sanitation.

The floor of the front room to the left housing 1 opossum is cluttered with boxes, empty containers, and other items stacked on and around the opossum enclosure. Around the animal enclosures throughout the premises, there is spilled bedding and food. There is a torn bag of food along the wall at the entrance of the facility, and food is spilling out onto the floor. Some areas of the floor have a buildup of dirt/grime.

Inspection Report

Accumulations of dirt, trash, and other debris and clutter can be a disease hazard to animals, can create noxious odors, and can be a breeding ground for vermin. Excessive clutter can hinder husbandry practices.

Trash should be placed in designated areas, the premises kept clean, and clutter minimized. Correct by March 1, 2022.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with a facility representative.
