Contingency planning.

There is no documented Contingency Plan in place. Failure to develop and document a contingency plan could result in a delayed response to emergencies and injury or loss of animal life, property, or business. Exhibitors must develop, document, and follow an appropriate plan to provide for the humane handling, treatment, transportation, housing, and care of their animals in the event of an emergency or disaster.

Correct by developing and documenting a contingency plan by April 15, 2023.

Facilities, general.

Several areas of the main hoofstock yard are in disrepair, resulting in sharp points/edges in primary enclosures where animals can injure themselves.

- Two windows along the back side of the main barn are framed in aluminum molding that has loosened and bent so that sharp and jagged metal edges extend into the animal area.
- There are two smaller shelters within the main hoofstock yard where fence boards have fallen and the sharp ends of nails and screws are protruding outward so that they may be easily encountered by the animals contained within the yard.
