3.84(d)

Cleaning, sanitization, housekeeping, and pest control.

In the barn adjacent to the non-human primate indoor housing, the pigeons have sought shelter from an unusually severe winter resulting in an accumulation of excreta in the barn. The indoor housing for the nonhuman primates is only accessible by walking through the barn area. The facility has tried to keep the area clean, but needs to establish and maintain an effective program to exclude pests to reduce the contamination in animal areas.

3.131(c)

Sanitation.

The area around the D street enclosures had an accumulation of items, included donated pallets of food, old freezers, unused fencing and equipment and other items that create clutter and should be cleared as necessary to protect the health of the animals.

Buildings and grounds shall be kept clean and in good repair in order to protect the health of the animals and to facilitate the prescribed husbandry practices.
