FACILITIES, GENERAL.

The door to the metal storage bin for the grain did not close properly. This door was bent open and had jagged edges, and the grain stored inside was not in storage bags or containers. This condition can allow rodents and pests direct access to the feed for the sheep. Contamination of food materials can lead to health issues of the animals. Food storage containers must seal properly in order to prevent contamination and entrances of pests. This door to the feed storage bin must be repaired in order to maintain a proper seal.
