Handling of animals.

On or about March 7, 2025, at an exhibition at a school, a Coati Mundi named Rocket was being held and exhibited by an employee. The Coati Mundi superficially bit a child on the forearm. The employee and licensee were unaware of the incident until it was brought to their attention approximately 45 minutes after the event. The licensee stated that there was a small pink area on the forearm and it did not break the skin.

Exhibitions that do not allow sufficient distances or have barriers between the animals and the public can lead to injury for the animals or the public.

The licensee must ensure that during public exhibition, any animal is handled so there is minimal risk of harm to the animal and to the public, with sufficient distance and/or barriers between the animal and the general viewing public so as to assure the safety of animals and the public.

To be corrected from March 19, 2025 forward.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with the licensee.
