3.81(c)(1)

ENVIRONMENT ENHANCEMENT TO PROMOTE PSYCHOLOGICAL WELL-BEING.

Section 3.81(c)(1) Special considerations: An infant male vervet was removed from its mother because she was not producing milk and is being hand raised by the facility employees. The 6.5 week old vervet was being cared for at the home of an employee not present at the facility. The infant vervet was brought to the facility during the inspection to be seen by the APHIS official and appeared healthy. The facility plan for environment enhancement to promote the psychological well-being of nonhuman primates does not provide a written description of the diet and daily care of the infant vervet being hand raised. Improper diet or amounts may affect the growth and health of the vervet. Not meeting his social and environmental needs may cause the infant psychological distress and affect his behavioral development.

Infants and young juvenile nonhuman primates require special attention regarding enhancement of their environment, based on the needs of the individual species and in accordance with the instructions of the attending veterinarian. Correct by providing a written description approved by the attending veterinarian for the infant vervet regarding his diet/feeding and his daily care to meet his social and environmental needs. Correct by October 20, 2016.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with a facility employee.
