3.75(c)(3)

Housing facilities, general.

* There is a mixture of dirt, grease and other excreta on the metal enclosure bar and wall board. One Snow Macaque is in contact with the affected surfaces located in shelter housing. The affected area covers approximately 40 percent of the surface area. Cleaning of surfaces is necessary to prevent an accumulation of excreta and other disease hazards. This indicates an unsanitary living condition exists that could lead to potential disease or health risks. All surfaces of housing facilities must be cleaned and sanitized when necessary to satisfy generally accepted husbandry standards and practices. The licensee must ensure that all surfaces which any primate comes in contact with must be spot cleaned on a daily basis and sanitized in accordance with 3.84.

3.84(c)

Cleaning, sanitization, housekeeping, and pest control.

Cobwebs were observed collecting on fencing and interior walls and ceiling area of the Snow Maquac and Baboon sheltered buildings. This indicates a living area exists for other pests. Cobwebs in the primate area create unsanitary conditions if cobwebs continue to collect in the primate area. Removal of cobwebs from interior building area is necessary to ensure the health & well-being of all primates.
