3.137(e)

Primary enclosures used to transport live animals.

36 hard-sided plastic transport crates, containing 3-5 live domestic ferrets per container (166 ferrets in total), were labelled with "live animal" signage on the top of the crate only. The letters in the words "live animal" were approximately 1/2 inch tall. There was no "live animal" signage on the sides of any of the containers. Waybill numbers included #7758-4717-3061, 7758-4722-7878, 7757-9883-2871, 7758-4727-9511, and 7758-4726-8180. Live animal signage with directional arrows is important because it alerts handlers that the container contains live animals, and signals the correct upright position of the containers. Correct by 02/11/2022 by ensuring that travel crates for ferrets and other animals covered by the Animal Welfare Act (AWA) are labelled with "live animal" signage and directional arrows as required by the AWA regulations.

This inspection was conducted with a facility manager, and the exit interview was conducted with company representatives.
