On July 3, 2015 a family relative of the licensee was bit by a ring-tailed lemur while at a public property in Wisconsin. The licensee reported being present at the time of the incident however was not in direct control of the lemur. Non-human primates must be under the direct control and supervision of an experienced handler or trainer at all times during physical contact with the public. If an experienced handler or trainer is not present, sufficient barriers and/or distances must be in place to protect the public from harm.

Correction: Take appropriate actions to prevent future incidents.
