2.40(b)(2)

Attending veterinarian and adequate veterinary care (dealers and exhibitors).

A female rabbit was seen to have an abnormal gait in its hind limbs. A facility representative said this has been monitored for over a month and seen to continue to eat and drink, but the attending veterinarian has not been contacted. It was seen to be eating during inspection and in good body condition but the abnormal gait needs to be reported to the attending veterinarian when first noticed to ensure that the condition isn't painful or that if it is a treatable condition the treatment can be started. Ensure to contact the attending veterinarian and have this rabbit evaluated by the attending veterinarian and follow the veterinarian's treatment plan.

Correct by June 4, 2025.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with a facility representative.
