2.31(c)(1)

Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (IACUC).

While reviewing the Spring and Fall 2022 Semi-Annual Reports to the Institutional Official (IO), it was discovered that the Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (IACUC) failed to review their program for humane care and use of animals within a 6-month period. The spring 2022 program review was performed on May 31, 2022, but the next program review was not conducted until January 3, 2023. Failure to review the program for humane care and use of animals at the interval indicated within the Animal Welfare Act (AWA) could negatively impact the animals covered under the program by misidentifying program discrepancies, and therefore effect their welfare. With respect to activities involving animals, the IACUC, as an agent of the research facility, must review, at least once every six months, the research facility's program for humane care and use of animals, using title 9, chapter I, subchapter A – Animal Welfare, as a basis for evaluation. The subsequent spring 2023 Semi-Annual program review was conducted at the required interval.
