2.131(b)(1) Critical

Handling of animals.

The facility provided the foxes with fabric toys which were able to be damaged and torn by the animals. In December 2024, one female red fox "Elsa" ingested part of one of these toys which resulted in an intestinal blockage. While the facility did acquire veterinary care for the fox, the animal died following surgery.

Inappropriate handling of animals, including providing unsuitable enrichment to the animals, can result in injury and death. All animals must be handled in a manner that does not cause trauma, overheating excessive cooling, behavioral stress, physical harm, or unnecessary discomfort.

To be corrected from this day, March 10, 2025, forward.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with the licensee and facility representatives.
