2.40(a)(1)

ATTENDING VETERINARIAN AND ADEQUATE VETERINARY CARE (DEALERS AND EXHIBITORS).

The program of veterinary has not been signed by the attending veterinarian since April 6, 2013. A written Program of Veterinary Care, which accurately reflects the arrangement of veterinary care at the facility, is required in order to ensure that all animals receive appropriate veterinary care. The plan shall include regularly scheduled visits to the facility by the Attending Veterinarian no less than annually. It must be signed by the veterinarian, updated as the program changes or annually and kept on hand for review during inspection.

SANITATION.

There are 3 enclosures containing two juvenile rabbits, one white male lop rabbit, and one black/brown/white female rabbit with two baby rabbits. Each of these enclosures have an excessive amount of feces built up in the litter pan and on the floor of the enclosure. Excreta shall be removed as often as necessary to prevent contamination of the animals contained, minimize disease hazards and reduce odors. The cleaning schedule of these enclosures should be more timely and effective to prevent the build-up of excreta.

Correct from this day forward.

3.131(c)

SANITATION.

The goat enclosure has debris, trash, unused and discarded items lying on the ground throughout the enclosure. Inadequate cleaning of the premises can potentially cause injury to the animals enclosed. All buildings and premises must be kept clean, cleared, and in good repair to protect the health of the animals and prevent injuries to the animals.
