Records: Dealers and exhibitors.

The acquisition records for the animals acquired by the Licensee since the last inspection were reviewed. There had been a single purchase of chinchillas since the last inspection which had been acquired from an individual who was not licensed or registered under the AWA but their vehicle license number and state, and the driver's license number were not recorded. Complete and accurate animal records must be kept in order to facilitate tracking of animals. Records must be maintained that fully and correctly disclose information concerning all animals purchased or otherwise acquired, owned, held, leased, transported, sold, euthanized or otherwise disposed of and shall include any offspring born while in the licensee's possession. Specifically, the vehicle license number and State, and the driver's license number (or photographic identification card for nondrivers issued by a State) and State of the person, if he or she is not licensed or registered under the Act.

Facilities, general.

Approximately 15% of the feeding receptacles had a rusty, irregular, and pitted inside lip, which was where the chinchilla accessed the food. Food receptacles which are rusty and pitted are no longer in good repair and could result in an injury to the animals. All enclosures must be kept in good repair and free of sharp points, jagged edges or other hazards in order to protect the animals from injury. A system of timely identification, facility repair and maintenance must be in place.
