3.56(a)(2)

Sanitation.

The two rabbit enclosures in the barn have solid floors filled with hay and bedding. The soiled litter in the enclosure are not being removed and replaced with clean litter weekly as required. This needs to be addressed for the health and comfort of the rabbits.

Facilities, general.

*** The two goats in the barn next to the chickens have chicken wire covering the wood over their hay trough and along the wood entrance into their stall. This chicken wire is broken in several areas with some protruding wires at eye and face level of the goats. This wire should be replaced with materials that are structurally sound for the goats and maintained in good repair for their safety.
