2.40(a)(1)

Attending veterinarian and adequate veterinary care (dealers and exhibitors).

The program of veterinary care does not include llamas and camels. Not having regulated species of animals on your program of veterinary care doesn't ensure provisions are in place to make sure the medical needs of that species are being taken care of. The Attending Veterinarian must review the program of veterinary care and ensure all regulated species of animals being cared for by the licensee are listed on the program of veterinary care. Correct by 12/6/22.

2.75(b)(1)

Records: Dealers and exhibitors.

The licensee doesn't have a current inventory or acquisition records of the animals on site. In addition, the licensee was unable to provide sales/disposition records from two goats that were recently sold/given away. Not keeping records up to date doesn't allow for APHIS officials to properly track the animals. The licensee must have must have acquisition and disposition records for all regulated animals. In addition, the licensee must have records for all regulated animals that are currently on site. Correct by 12/29/22.

3.125(a)

Repeat

Facilities, general.

An enclosure containing 14 goats and 3 llamas had fencing laying in the yard in one area. In addition part of the fencing had sharp points sticking out into the enclosure. Fencing that is in disrepair or fencing that laying out in the enclosure could cause injury to the animals within the enclosure. The fencing with sharp points sticking out into the enclosure must be either repaired, replaced, or fixed so it no longer poses a danger to the animals within the enclosure. The fencing laying out in the yard of the enclosure must be removed from the enclosure.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with the licensee.

End of report.
