3.127(b)

FACILITIES, OUTDOOR.

Both calf pastures need shelter from the heavy rains and wind in the summer months and cold during the winter months. The pasture near the barn has shelter from the sun, however additional shelter is needed for inclement weather. Natural or artificial shelter shall be provided for all animals kept outdoors to afford them protection and to prevent discomfort to such animals.

TO BE CORRECTED BY: JUNE 10, 2016

3.129(a)

FEEDING.

The hay stored outdoors being fed to the calves is not covered from the rains and could become moldy and cause illness when ingested. The pasture near the barn has a water receptacle which is over flowing causing the hay on the ground to become wet. This hay could become moldy and cause illness if ingested. Food shall be wholesome, free from contamination to maintain all animals in good health.

TO BE CORRECTED BY: MAY 20, 2016.

3.130

WATERING.

The automatic water receptacle for the pigs is overflowing and needs to be repaired or replaced to ensure the animals are drinking potable water. The excess water is streaming on the ground which is being mixed with dirt because the pigs are walking in it. This water could become contaminated and cause parasites and other illnesses if ingested.
