Facilities, general.

There was an approximately 12 inch by 12 inch area of metal siding that was bent, creating a sharp edge, on the wall of an enclosure housing six camels. There was one shelter inside an enclosure housing two wolves that had an approximately 1.5 inch nail coming through the roof. Sharp points and edges could lead to unnecessary animal injury. Facilities shall be structurally sound and shall be maintained in good repair to protect the animals from injury and to contain them. The enclosure wall and shelter were corrected at the time of inspection.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with facility representatives.
