2.40(b)(2)

ATTENDING VETERINARIAN AND ADEQUATE VETERINARY CARE (DEALERS AND EXHIBITORS).

During the inspection, a bottle of expired medication was found. The bottle was Fish Flex (cephalexin) with an expiration date of "2010". Use of expired or improperly stored medical materials is not considered to be adequate veterinary care as the effects cannot be guaranteed to appropriately treat the animals condition and the materials may become contaminated which poses a risk to the animals. Appropriate methods to prevent, control, diagnose, and treat diseases and injuries shall be used, established, and maintained as part of the program for veterinary care for dogs.

To be corrected from this date forward.

3.131(a)

SANITATION.

 The enclosure housing 1 male and 1 female serval had an excessive accumulation of debris (dried blood, food debris, dirt, excreta etc.) on and in the housing structure and on a plastic chair. These dirty objects come into regular contact and pose a health risk to the animals. An excessive accumulation of waste can increase insects, pests, and odors, and may harbor pathogens and play a role in disease transmission. These surfaces should be cleaned at a frequency that is adequate to maintain standard husbandry practices.

To be corrected by May 16, 2014.

Inspection and exit interview was conducted on-site with owner.
