Attending veterinarian and adequate veterinary care (dealers and exhibitors).

One gray fox still has a yellow discharge from both eyes. The skin around both eyes had areas that were bright pink with hair loss. The globe of each eye was also grayish blue with a cloudy appearance. The veterinarian who was contacted to provide veterinary care was not experienced with treating a fox and declined to examine or provide instructions for treating the eyes.

Lack of veterinary diagnosis and treatment can lead to prolonged suffering and pain.

Each dealer shall establish and maintain programs of adequate veterinary care including the use of appropriate methods to prevent, control, diagnose, and treat diseases and injuries.

Each exhibitor must contact the attending veterinarian for proper diagnosis and treatment of all veterinary issues.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with a facility representative.
