3.7(b) Critical

Compatible grouping.

The wolf/hybrid dog, Kira, has previously demonstrated aggression towards other animals. According to documents reviewed by USDA inspectors, on July 19, 2020, two female wolf/hybrids, Luna and Kira, were removed from their primary enclosure and were paired together in a new primary enclosure. This pairing resulted in an aggressive incident that resulted in extensive wounds to both animals.

Luna, a female wolf/hybrid, had a wound on the top of her head behind her right ear. The dark female wolf/hybrid named Kira had a deep laceration below her right eye and through the lower eyelid. These wounds were caused by the aggression of each of these animals against each other while they were housed in the same enclosure. Veterinary care was provided on July 20, 2020 for both animals. At the time of inspection, the wounds on both animals had healed. Luna and Kira are no longer housed together.

Dogs that are housed in the same primary enclosure must be compatible. Any dog exhibiting a vicious or overly aggressive disposition must be housed separately.
