WATERING.

The water bottles for the rabbits have a greenish/brownish discolored sediment in them. Contaminated water may cause illness. The water bottles shall be cleaned and sanitized to prevent contamination of the water and fresh water shall be provided. Correct by November 12, 2017.

3.56(a)(1)

SANITATION.

The primary enclosures for the rabbits have a build up of solid waste material in the corners of the enclosure on the wire and on the wooden frame where the excreta did not or cannot fall through the wire. There is also hair accumulating in these areas. The enclosures shall be cleaned to prevent excessive buildup of waste and protect the rabbits from contamination.

There are several rabbit hutches composed of wood and wire that have wood that has been chewed or gnawed leaving splinters and exposed untreated wood that cannot be adequately cleaned and sanitized. The exposed wood has ground in waste material and liquid stains. Excess excreta creates unsanitary conditions that may negatively affect the health and well being of the rabbits. The wood shall be repaired or replaced and prepared in a manner that will allow it to be thoroughly cleaned and sanitized to provide for the health and comfort of the rabbits.

Correct by November 22, 2017.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with the facility representative.
