Attending veterinarian and adequate veterinary care (dealers and exhibitors).

There was 1 guinea pig observed with a health condition requiring treatment in accordance with the Program of Veterinary Care or consultation with the attending veterinarian. A tricolor adult guinea pig in Pen 15A had a firm movable mass approximately 2 inches in size under the chin. The animal was in good body condition and did not appear lethargic. The licensee had made an appointment with the attending veterinarian for a different guinea pig with a lump following the last inspection and the attending veterinarian was scheduled to visit the facility next week. The Program of Veterinary Care on file addressed the condition and provided treatment options.

Masses under the chin can be indications of disease or injury, can be painful, affect the overall health and well-being of the animal, and may require treatment with antibiotics or other medications. Failure to seek proper diagnosis and treatment for disease may result in pain to the animals, worsening of the condition, and possible spread to additional animals if the condition is contagious.

The licensee must initiate treatment according to the Program of Veterinary Care or communicate with the attending veterinarian to evaluate these animals and determine an appropriate plan for diagnosis and treatment.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with the licensee.
