Attending veterinarian and adequate veterinary care (dealers and exhibitors).

During the inspection multiple containers of expired medications were found in the medication storage cabinet. When asked if any of these medications are still being used on regulated animals the facility representative stated that expired medications may be used for birds. The following medications were found to be expired:

- Flunazine expiration date May 2025
- Enroflox expiration date May 2025
- Enroflox expiration date September 2023
- Noromectin expiration date December 2024
- Safeguard expiration date March 2025

Medications being used past the expiration date have unknown efficacy and potency; thus, they may no longer be efficacious for the labeled indications of use. Correct by ensuring that the facility is using the appropriate methods to prevent and control diseases. Corrected at the time of inspection on 10 September 2025 and going forward.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with the facility representative.
