Feeding.

 The knives used to prepare vegetables for the goats was found in an upright container that was dirty and filled with markers, can openers, and scissors. The knives pulled were dirty and so was the cutting board used for food preparation. Using dirty knives and storing them in this manner, does not keep the food free from contamination and can negatively impact the nutritive value of the food being provided. This food preparation area and equipment needs to be addressed to ensure the food shall be wholesome, palatable, and free from contamination when fed to the animals.
