3.1(c)(1)(i)

Housing facilities, general.

There is excessive rusting and flaking of the bottom metal bar of the fence in the north play yard to which dogs have access when in use. Facilities housing dogs that have surfaces with excessive amounts of rust can affect the structural integrity of the enclosure and make it difficult to properly clean and sanitize. This may lead to injury or infection in the dogs. Any surfaces that come in contact with dogs must be free of excessive rust that prevents the required cleaning and sanitization, or that affects the structural strength of the surface.

Correct by 07 April 2026.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with the facility representative.
