2.33(b)(3) Critical

Attending veterinarian and adequate veterinary care.

On October 9, 2025, from 4:00 PM until 6:00 PM, facility personnel did not contact the Attending Veterinarian with changes in an animal's post-operative health status until the animal had died.

An adult female dog (Carmella) underwent a spay procedure in the early afternoon on October 9. According to facility representatives, the designated veterinarian who performed surgeries on this day and other staff members monitored the animal until 4:00 pm, during which time the animal was slow to recover but appeared stable. The surgeon left at 4:00 pm.

According to an internal investigation and conversations with facility representatives, after 4:00 PM, the dog was not recovering as expected and close monitoring continued, but personnel did not contact a veterinarian with this update. At 5:20 pm, out of concern for the animal's condition, care staff decided to run additional diagnostics on the dog, but still did not communicate this to the Attending Veterinarian nor to the veterinarian who had performed the surgery. Records show that at 6:00 PM, the dog rapidly deteriorated further and care staff alerted the closest veterinarian in the building to assist in performing CPR. The dog was not successfully resuscitated. Thereafter, care personnel contacted the Attending Veterinarian for the first time about the animal.

Failing to contact the Attending Veterinarian in a timely manner with changes in an animal's health status can lead to severe health outcomes.

The facility has taken corrective measures to its animal care program and SOPs after an internal investigation. From this day forward, continue to assure that timely and accurate information on problems of animal health is conveyed to the Attending Veterinarian so that the Attending Veterinarian can direct the facility on veterinary care.

This inspection and exit interview were conducted with facility representatives.
