Feeding

In three enclosures, housing a total of three adult dogs and sixteen puppies, the dog food in the bowls and self-feeders is heavily contaminated with wood shavings. The food in several receptacles is almost completely buried under the shavings which increases the risk of inadvertent consumption of the shavings when the dogs are trying to eat the food. Failure of the facility to keep the food uncontaminated could have serious negative impacts on the health of the dogs.

Dogs must be fed at least once each day, except as otherwise might be required to provide adequate veterinary care. The food must be uncontaminated, wholesome, palatable, and of sufficient quantity and nutritive value to maintain the normal condition and weight of the animal. The facility must ensure that the food in the bowls and self-feeders remains free of wood shavings and any other contaminates, in order to support the health and well-being of the dogs.
