3.11(c)

Cleaning, sanitization, housekeeping, and pest control.

Housekeeping at the facility needs to be addressed. There are old feces left in empty enclosures that have not been cleaned and removed. There is excess feces and shavings underneath a section of whelping boxes not in use with a dead mouse on the floor and rodent droppings throughout the area. Excess feces left and not cleaned in the area can contribute to a smell in the kennel. These areas of the kennel must be kept clean and in good repair to facilitate good husbandry practices.

3.11(d)

Cleaning, sanitization, housekeeping, and pest control.

The facility does not have an effective method of pest management in the kennel. There was evidence of mice via droppings all around the food storage area and along the walls in the kennel by the whelping boxes and in the empty dirty enclosures. Pest management must be addressed to reduce and control the number of rodents in the area to protect the food supplies from potential contamination and to reduce risk to the dogs.

3.13(a)(2)

Veterinary care for dogs.

The last complete physical exam done on the dogs from head to tail was performed on Jan 15, 2025. This exam is to be done by the attending veterinarian not less than once every 12 months. The licensee needs to contact the vet and schedule this exam to meet the requirements of the regulation and to assure that the dogs are examined to note any changes in health that may need to be addressed.
