3.5(a) Critical

Mobile or traveling housing facilities.

On April 10, 2025, a 4 year old male golden retriever died of suspected heat stress while being transported from New Jersey to California. The facility representative reported the dog had been transported in a converted passenger van and the driver reported they observed the dog pacing and breathing fast. The driver reported they stopped the vehicle and took the dog out of its travel enclosure. After the dog calmed down it was returned to the enclosure and was then found dead later by the driver.

The necropsy report summary stated " suspected stress induced heat stroke".

Mobile housing facilities for dogs must be sufficiently cooled to provide for their health and well being.
